Thanksgiving Eve Worship

Now Thank We All Our God

What does it mean to give thanks when life is hard? When the table is nearly empty, the world feels uncertain, or there is more worry than abundance?

The beloved hymn "Now Thank We All Our God" invites us to consider gratitude in a deeper way. Written during a time of war, famine, and disease, this hymn reminds us that thanksgiving is not reserved for times when life is easy or everything is going well. Gratitude is an act of faith—a way of recognizing God's goodness and presence even in the midst of hardship.

You are invited to Thanksgiving Eve worship on Wednesday, November 25 at 6:30 p.m. as we gather around God's promises, lift our voices in this treasured hymn, and give thanks for the blessings we share. We will also remember our neighbors who are facing hunger and hardship and consider how our gratitude can become generosity.

As part of our worship, we will collect food donations for ACBC Food Shelf and welcome monetary gifts to help support their important work of feeding our neighbors. Please bring nonperishable food items or a financial contribution as you are able. You can find paper bags with suggested needed items and envelopes for your monetary contribution at the front desk.

And because giving thanks is even sweeter when shared together, stay after worship for a slice of pie and fellowship!

Come as you are, bring your gratitude, and join us as we give thanks to God—not because life is perfect, but because God is faithful.

pastor's corner

A Heart of Gratitude

One of my favorite Thanksgiving hymns is "For the Beauty of the Earth" (#879 in our hymnal). The refrain reads, "Christ, our God, to thee we raise this our sacrifice of praise." The original version said, "Lord of all, to Thee we raise, this our hymn of grateful praise." Both are beautiful reminders that giving thanks is itself an act of worship. What I love about this hymn is that it focuses entirely on gratitude. It doesn't ask for anything; it simply gives thanks. Yet how often do we pause to notice the blessings that surround us every day?

Viktor Frankl, reflecting on his experience in the Nazi concentration camp at Auschwitz, wrote about the simple things prisoners dreamed of having: bread, cakes, and a warm bath. Things we often take for granted were precious gifts to those who had been deprived of them.

Ralph Waldo Emerson made a similar observation about the stars. If the constellations appeared only once every thousand years, imagine how excited people would be to see them! But because they shine above us night after night, we barely give them a glance.

Author Robert J. Morgan, in his book Then Sings My Soul, writes that one sign of the Holy Spirit's work in our lives is a growing thankfulness that reflects the blessings we have received. In other words, God is continually shaping us into people who notice, appreciate, and give thanks for the gifts around us.

As we enter November and prepare to celebrate Thanksgiving, perhaps we can practice seeing familiar blessings with fresh eyes: the warmth of home, food on the table, family and friends, the beauty of creation, and the people who bring joy and meaning to our lives. And even in seasons of difficulty, we can look for signs of God's presence and grace.

May "For the Beauty of the Earth" become more than a hymn we sing this month. May it become a prayer we live each day, offering our gratitude to God not only through our words, but through our generosity, kindness, and care for others.

Christ, our God, to thee we raise this our sacrifice of praise.

With gratitude,

Pastor Connie

generosity in motion - Thanksgiving Ingathering

Each Thanksgiving Eve, Zion shares God's abundance through our annual ingathering of food, personal care items, monetary donations, and volunteer time to support Anoka County Brotherhood Council (ACBC) Food Shelf. Over the past six years, Zion members have donated an average of $7,144 annually, along with 1,203 pounds of food and personal care items. In 2025, our monetary gifts reached a record $8,652!

Founded in 1971 by four women who wanted to help their neighbors, ACBC has grown into a vital community resource. Since 2021, visits to the food shelf have increased by 191%, making our support more important than ever. Thank you to everyone who gives, volunteers to pack food boxes, and helps wherever needed. Together, we put generosity in motion and share God's love with our neighbors!

Please remember to bring your food donations to Thanksgiving Eve worship on November 25. To make a monetary donation, pick up a designated envelope at the front desk or donate online www.acbcfoodshelf.com/.

a personal reflection

I Resent That - Colleen Nelson

"It is said that resentment is like drinking poison and waiting for your enemy to die. There is no room for such a waste of energy in the service of God." Reinhard Bonnke, Pentecostal Evangelist. According to Merriam Webster, the word resentment is described as a feeling of indignant displeasure or persistent ill will at something regarded as a wrong, insult, or injury. Personally, it's hard for me to admit that I've harbored a years-long resentment towards a boss I had decades ago. I had asked permission to take my honeymoon immediately following my wedding, but it was denied. The staff could only take time off when the orthodontist was out of the office, which delayed our trip by a week. To pour salt on the wound, he teased me about coming to work two days after getting married. There's no denying that I felt hurt, but being the rule follower that I was and still am, I told myself, "Rules are rules." and I let it go, or so I thought. Five months later, a coworker asked for a week off during her friend's spring break which did not coincide with my boss' calendar and yet he made an exception to the rule. Grrrr. I felt wronged by my boss and was jealous of my coworker. If I'm being honest, this experience still comes up in conversations today.

I resent you vs. I forgive you.

God promises forgiveness for the asking, "I will give you a new heart, and a new spirit I will put within you." Ezekiel 36:26 ESV. Jesus spoke of forgiveness with each other in this way, "If you forgive the sins of any, they are forgiven them; if you withhold forgiveness from any, it is withheld." John 20:23 ESV. While writing this, I've been taking inventory of my heart. Are there additional circumstances in my past, when I have been wronged? Are there other people whose insults or actions have taken me down? Have I practiced forgiveness or have I held a grudge? Have I asked God to forgive my resentment? Every time? On this front, I am a work in progress. How about you?

Thank You for Growing What's Next!

ZION
LUTHERAN † ANOKA
Let's Grow What's Next
Strengthen. Renew. Create.

Thank you to everyone who has returned an intention card as part of our Growing What's Next stewardship season! Your generosity, faithfulness, and commitment to Zion make a difference in the life of our congregation and in the many ways we reach out to share God's love with our neighbors.

Every intention represents more than a financial commitment. It is a sign of hope for the future, a way of putting our faith into action, and a reminder that we are building something meaningful together. Because of your generosity, Zion can continue to grow in faith, strengthen connections, care for one another, and serve our community.

If you haven't returned your intention card yet, there is still time! We invite you to prayerfully consider how you will be part of growing what's next at Zion. You can return your card during worship or bring it to the church office.

Thank you for being part of this community of faith. Together, we are planting seeds of hope, nurturing faith, and creating a future where God's love continues to grow.

Zion Member Inducted into the National 4-H Hall of Fame

Zion member Carol Skelly was recently inducted into the National 4-H Hall of Fame at an awards ceremony on October 26 held in Kansas City, Missouri. This honor has only been given to a Minnesotan eleven times in the history of the award. Congratulations, Carol! Below is an excerpt from the University of Minnesota Extension press release. The full release can be found at: http://z.umn.edu/carol-skelly.

Throughout her career, Carol trusted young people with meaningful responsibility and created opportunities for them to lead. Her signature Youth Teaching Youth program trained more than 4,000 teens who reached more than 50,000 younger youth with messages about healthy decision-making, leadership and positive choices.

"Others ask: 'Why?' I ask: 'Why not?'" said Skelly. "My 4-H career offered so many opportunities to try new things, be creative and, most importantly, to have fun."

Carol believed 4-H members should become engaged, global citizens. She led two international trips through 4-H, after participating in an international 4-H exchange program herself with a trip to Nepal that she said changed her "forever." She also became an early adopter of WeConnect: A Global Youth Citizenship Curriculum, implementing it with a Youth Teaching Youth model; middle schoolers taught younger youth about discrimination, fairness and a shared responsibility to one another.

"We are so proud of Carol's induction into the National 4-H Hall of Fame. It's an incredible honor, and it's been an honor to work alongside her over the years and witness the way she makes room for young people to learn and grow," said Jennifer Skuza, Minnesota 4-H Director. "Her influence has shaped generations of young people, volunteers and professionals. It is a legacy that continues to strengthen Minnesota 4-H today."

Skelly retired as an Anoka County 4-H community program specialist in 2012 after 37 years of service with University of Minnesota Extension. She continues to play an active role with Minnesota 4-H. As a longtime member of the state photography and video committee she sets up the photography and video display in the 4-H Building at the Minnesota State Fair each year, making it an engaging display that showcases what youth have learned through their project.

Tickets will be available at the Welcome Desk the weekends of Nov 14–15 and Nov 21–22, with the drawing taking place during the week of Nov 22. Come admire the quilts, try your luck in our first-ever quilt raffle, and support the amazing work of Zion's quilters. Every ticket helps celebrate their ministry and the love stitched into every quilt.

Advent Begins November 28-29

Our Advent theme this year is Building God's House. What makes a house a home? A house becomes a home because of what happens there. It is a place where people gather, where stories are shared, where we find welcome, and where we know we belong. This Advent and Christmas, Zion is exploring what it means to build God's house. We long for God to show up. We prepare the way. We discover what makes a house a home. And we learn that, in the end, God is the builder. What kind of house is God building? Come and find out!

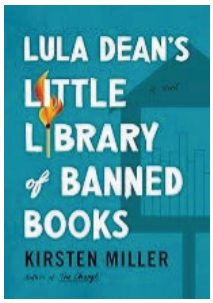

- November 28/29: When are you coming home? - We long for God.
- December 5/6: What are you building on? - We prepare the way.
- December 12/13: Setting Up House - We learn what makes a house a home.
- December 19/20: Make Us a House for God - We discover that God is the builder.
- December 24 (Christmas Eve): God Has Come Home - God comes to dwell among us in Jesus.

Zion Pages Book Group

Zion Pages meets the fourth Monday each month (except in December when the schedule changes to the third Monday) at 6:30 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall. All are welcome! On November 23 we will be discussing Lula Dean's Little Library of Banned Books by Kirsten Miller.

"What's So Amazing About Grace?"

Beginning the week of November 8, we begin our next small group study "What's So Amazing About Grace?" by Philip Yancey. In this follow-up study, Yancey continues to explore (and invites us to do the same), the reality of grace—something, he asserts, "the world cannot duplicate and the one thing it craves above all else"—and what it looks like in action. Each session includes a 15 to 20 minute video reflection by the author; time for discussion and Bible reading; prayer; and weekly "between session" reading and reflection. Sign up at the Welcome Desk and order a participants guide for $10.

November Adult Faith Forums

Grab a cup of coffee from the Cornerstone and stop in Sundays at 10 a.m. Below is the schedule for November:

- Nov. 1— Pastor Heather Wigdahl, Executive Director of Christikon Lutheran Bible Camp, McLeod, MT. Pastor Heather will be with us to share about the amazing ministry Christikon offers in the breathtaking beauty of the Boulder River valley in the Beartooth-Absaroka Wilderness Area of south-central Montana, just north of Yellowstone National Park. This is the camp that Pastor Mike attends every summer for continuing education and family camp. And here's a little camp trivia: there has been a Pancoast kid on staff at Christikon for 10 consecutive years!
- Nov. 8—Foundation Sunday. The Zion Foundation provides a lasting way for members and friends of Zion to leave a legacy that continues to make a difference for generations to come. Established in 1987, the Foundation supports Zion's ministries and local, national, and global organizations. Each year, the Foundation awards $60,000 in grants across four mission areas: Youth Development and Education, National and Global Missions, Local Causes, and Lutheran Legacy. Join us for Foundation Sunday to learn more about these ministries and see the difference your generosity makes!
- Nov. 15—ZAAM Speaker, Lori Blaukat. Lori will explain what stigma is, why it matters and how to help reduce it for oneself, someone else, or in the community. She will also talk about the national and local community campaign that has helped reduce stigma by increasing understanding and creating caring conversations around mental health and substance use disorders. Come, see, learn.
- Nov. 22—Family Promise Liaison, Pat Stearns. If you have not heard, Family Promise opened and moved into their new multi-family facility on the east end of Coon Rapids Blvd. And while the days of housing people and serving meals in the church are in the past, Family Promise is still very much counting on our partnership with them to serve meals at the new facility. Zion took its first turn this past September and will be up again in December. Come hear how it went at this amazing new facility in September—and be encouraged and invited to help out in December.
- Nov. 29—No Forum.

ACBC in Action

ACBC, our local food shelf in Anoka County, is very busy as there is a daily need for food in our community. I volunteer at the front desk helping to log in participants. Recently, a gentleman asked me how much he was going to have to pay for his food. When I replied "nothing", he smiled and said that he couldn't believe it! For many years, Zion has been a significant contributor to ACBC and I have seen first hand how grateful people are for the assistance they receive. During this month of thankfulness, let us continue to support ACBC by donating food, monetary donations and our time.

Equity Team Umbrella

From Zion Addiction Awareness Ministry (ZAAM)

Creating Awareness, Offering Hope, and Supporting Recovery

Several years ago, my brother Jerry and I took a course called 12 Steps for Christian Living, written by Vernon J. Bittner. Based on the 12 steps of Alcoholics Anonymous (AA), the course explores recovery through the lens of Christian faith.

My brother struggled with alcohol addiction following a traumatic motorcycle accident that left him paralyzed. A few years into his physical and emotional recovery, we took the course together. Jerry went on to teach it himself and lived another 35 years sober, navigating life from a wheelchair. His story is a powerful reminder that recovery is possible and that hope can carry us forward through even the most difficult circumstances.

ZAAM (Zion Addiction Awareness Ministries) seeks to raise awareness of addiction and mental health, providing resources, encouragement, and hope for the future. We recognize that addiction and mental health challenges often go hand in hand. In fact, research shows that many people diagnosed with a substance use disorder also experience a mental health condition.

One of ZAAM's focuses this year is to learn more about mental health and help break the stigma that often surrounds it. By encouraging open, honest conversations, we can create a more understanding and supportive community for those who are struggling and for the families and friends who love them. Another important part of our work is learning about the many organizations and services throughout Anoka County and greater Minnesota that support people experiencing addiction and mental health challenges. Recovery is not a one-size-fits-all process. It may involve detoxification, residential treatment, outpatient programs, sober living, case management, and ongoing aftercare. Understanding how these services work together—and how people can access them—is essential to supporting long-term recovery and a successful return to community life. Churches also have an important role to play. Alongside professional treatment and community resources, faith communities can offer spiritual care, encouragement, connection, and a place where people are welcomed without judgment throughout their recovery journey.

ZAAM meets on the fourth Tuesday of each month at 6:30 p.m., and you are invited to join the conversation. We are currently reading and discussing Faith Communities and Addiction Recovery by Rev. Dr. Ed Treat. Whether you have personal experience with addiction or mental health challenges, care about someone who does, or simply want to learn how our congregation can better support our community, we invite you to be part of the conversation. Together, we can grow in understanding, reduce stigma, and help ensure that no one has to walk the road to recovery alone.
